LINCOLN and the SLEEPING SENTINEL

by Lucius E. Chittenden

THE kind of story that brings a lump to the throat and a glimpse of glory to the eyes. There is Lincoln visiting a toy-shop to buy tin soldiers for his little son, and talking with the old toy-maker, veteran of Napoleon's wars, who unconsciously wrings the overburdened President's heart with tales of his emperor. News of the assassination comes, and one feels the mighty throb of sorrow that passed through the country in the impression made on one humble heart.

Pictorial Cover in Colors. 16mo, Cloth. 50 cents net.

"LINCOLN'S heart was as tender as ever beat in a human breast," Mr.

Chittenden writes. And in no incident is it more beautifully shown than in that of the sleeping sentinel. It is one of the great stories of American history—more than a story, because it quickens the pulses and moistens the eye to a noble end. Moreover, it is true. In this volume the authentic account of an historic incident is presented by one who took an actual part in it.

With Colored Frontispiece. 16mo, Cloth. 50 cents net.

Reminiscences of Abraham Lincoln

Edited by Allen Thorndike Rice

Revised Edition

IT is the personal Lincoln who lives before us in these pages. With the passage of time actual recollections of Lincoln acquire a superlative value. There are the recollections of lawyers who rode the circuit with Lincoln in Illinois and listened to his tales before the fires of wayside taverns; there are descriptions of his early political campaigns, vivid pictures of Lincoln the President, Lincoln in the dark days of the Civil War, Lincoln at Gettysburg, Lincoln the liberator, and Lincoln the soldiers' friend.

Cloth. Octavo. $2.00 net.

Recollections of President Lincoln

by Lucius E. Chittenden, Register of the Treasury under Lincoln And His Administration

MR. CHITTENDEN'S book belongs to the valuable class of authentic memorials of a great historic time. Lincoln admitted him to his friendship, and occasionally would take refuge in the Register's office as a retreat. It is a picture full of human interest and sympathy, that of the weary man, sore burdened with the cares of state, finding thus in the inner room the solitude he yearned for.

470 pages. With Portrait. Octavo. $2.50.

Abraham Lincoln

by Charles Carleton Coffin

THE author knew Lincoln personally, visited the scenes of his early life, and had many interviews with those who knew Lincoln. The strong points of his book are its readability, its numerous illustrations of places connected with Lincoln's early career, and its portraits of leading men during war times.

Illustrated. Square Octavo. $2.00.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

 The prices of net books issued by publishers who protect the prices of their new publications are preceded in this list by the double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. Works of fiction (not net) of which a minimum price is protected by their publishers, are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not protected are preceded by a single asterisk *, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederick; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Bindloss, Harold. Lorimer of the Northwest; with frontispiece by Alfred Ja. Dewey. N. Y., Frederick A. Stokes Co., [1909.] c. 384 p. D. cl., $1.50.

A tale of pioneer adventure and struggle laid in the Canadian Northwest, of which the author writes so sympathetically. He shows the hardships and the reward of the men who went from England with little or nothing, and grew up with the country. He makes a sharp contrast between the serious workers, and the gentlemen of means who did not expect to make money and spent so much time in hunting that they did not raise a good crop. The outdoor atmosphere permeates the book, and there is a distinct love interest.

Buchanan, Ja. The works of James Buchanan, [President of U. S. 1856-1860:] comprising his speeches, state papers, and private correspondence; collected and ed. by J: Bassett Moore. In 12 v. v. 6, 1844-1846. Phil., Lippincott, 1909. c. 509 p. 8°, cl., $5 net, boxed.

Bury, J: B. The ancient Greek historians; (Harvard lectures.) N. Y., Macmillan, 1909. c. 10+281 p. O. cl., $2.25.

Author is Regius professor of modern history in the University of Cambridge. These are the Lane lectures which he delivered at Harvard University in the spring 1908. The book amounts to a historical survey of Greek historiography down to the first century A.C. The subjects are: The rise of Greek history in Ionia; Herodotus; Thucydides; The development of Greek historiography after Thucydides; Polybius; The influence of Greek on Roman historiography; Views of the ancients concerning the use of history. Bibliography (5 p.). Index.

Carlyle, T., and Macaulay, T: Babington, Lord. Robert Burns, by Thomas Carlyle; Samuel Johnson, by Lord Macaulay; ed., with introd. and notes, by E: Everett Hale, jr. N. Y., Newson & Co., [1909.] c. '08. 144 p. por. 12°, (Standard literature ser.) cl., 30 c.; pap., 20 c.

Chicago. Public Library. List of books and magazine articles on Abraham Lincoln, 16th president of the United States, born Feb. 12, 1809, died Apr. 15, 1865. Chic., Chicago Public Library, 1909. 43 p. O. pap., gratis.

Chittenden, Lucius Eugene. Lincoln and the sleeping sentinel; the true story told by L. E. Chittenden; with portraits. N. Y., Harper, 1909. c. '91. 54 p. por. D. cl., 50 c. net.

The "sleeping sentinel" was William Scott, Company K of the 3d Vermont Regiment ("Green Mountain Boys"). General Smith, of West Point, would not commute his sentence for sleeping on post, so a delegation of the boy's comrades and his captain went to Washington and appealed to President Lincoln. The author of the present version was the man who received the soldiers and led them to the President.

De la Pasture, Mrs. Elizabeth Bonham, [Mrs. H: De la Pasture.] Catherine's child. N. Y., Dutton, 1909. c. '08. 394 p. D. cl., $1.20 net.

In a beautiful rural neighborhood near London Catherine passes her time in gardening and farming after the death of her husband, Philip Athelstane. Her sixteen year old daughter Philippa longs for other scenes, and much against her will Catherine lets her go to London with a frivolous cousin by marriage. Suddenly she disappears and the story is taken up with the detective work of finding her. Philippa inherits great estates, and Catherine finally learns to respect her individuality and give up her own tastes for her daughter's.

Dudley, Edgar S. Military law, and the procedure of courts-martial. 2d ed., rev. and enl. N. Y., John Wiley & Sons, 1909. 9+656 p. 12°, cl., $2.50.

Emerson, E: Randolph. Beverages, past and present: an historical sketch of their production, together with a study of the customs connected with their use. N. Y., Putnam, 1908, [1909.] c. 2 v., 6+563; 4+514 p. O. cl., $5 net, boxed.

The author of "The story of the vine" has made a book as entertaining as it is reliable; it tells the history of the beverages, intoxicating and non-intoxicating, of all peoples and countries from the earliest times to the present. Besides the account of beverages and their nature are the picturesque descriptions of drinking customs. Apart from the interest of the book as a history of its subject, as thorough and complete as the research of the author could make it, it is valuable for the light it throws upon the social life, the manners and the morals of many times and diverse peoples.

Empedocles. The fragments of Empedocles; tr. into English verse by W: Ellery Leonard. Chic., Open Court Publishing Co., 1908, [1909.] c. 8+92 p. il. 8°, cl., $1.

Empedocles was a Greek philosopher, poet and statesman who lived from 490-430 B.C. Bibliography (2 p.).

Eucken, Rudolf. The life of the spirit: an introduction to philosophy; tr. by F. L. Pogson. N. Y., Putnam, 1909. 9+403 p. D. (Crown theological lib.) cl., $1.50 net.

Author is professor of philosophy in the University of Jena. Through his sustained and heroic appeal to what is spiritual in man, Eucken has ennobled the significance and the mission of philosophy. He aims at developing, not a new category, but a new culture, and holds that it is the privilege of philosophy, by penetrating to what is most inward in human nature, to bring a religious inspiration to bear upon the problems of the world of human labor.

Hall, H. Fielding. One immortality. N. Y., Macmillan, 1909. c. 263 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

Five English people pausing in a travel trip at Venice are the actors in a modern novel. They are Major and Mrs. Holman, their niece, Miss Ormond, Captain Worden and a Mr. Holt. The two men last named are unmarried and become deeply interested in Miss Ormond. The story is continued on a steamer bound for Port Said and through the Canal. There is scarcely any action aside from the courtship of Miss Ormond, and of a woman from the East returning from a visit to Germany. The book is made up of a series of conversations, chiefly on love and matrimony, as to their philosophy and their desirability, etc. By the author of "The inward light," etc.

Harnack, Adolf. The mission and expansion of Christianity in the first three centuries; tr. and ed. by Ja. Moffatt. 2d enl. and rev. ed. N. Y., Putnam, 1908, [1909.] 2 v., 15+514; 7+358 p. fold. maps, (Theological translation lib.) cl., *$7 net.

In this volume Professor Harnack develops the position which he has established in "Luke the physician," and subjects the Acts of the Apostles to a most searching investigation from almost all possible points of view.

Harwood, W: Sumner. Life and letters of Austin Craig; introd. and reminiscences of Antioch College by E: Everett Hale. N. Y. and Chic., Revell, [1909.] c. '08. 394 p. pls. pors. facsim., O. cl., *$1.50 net.

Dr. Craig succeeded Horace Mann, the famous educator, as president of Antioch College, Ohio. Mr. Harwood, in his preface, says: "In the span of his all too short life, whose chief activities covered the years from 1840 to 1881, Austin Craig came into contact with and enthusiastically entered into many stirring events, and he drew and held to himself the friendship of many distinguished men. Prominent among these was Horace Mann, the correspondence with whom is given in this volume and it is believed will be found of especial interest by the student of educational methods. Dr. Craig was an advocate of industrial and scientific training. As college professor he was a pioneer in introducing laboratory and seminar methods for the study of psychology and sociology."

tions. N. Y., John Lane Co., (The Bodley Head,) 1909. 39+237 p. pls. maps, figs. O. cl., *$2.50 net.

Sir Hiram S. Maxim created a sensation in London recently by declaring before the conservative Society of Arts that England was in danger of hostile invasion by aeroplanes from the Continent. Sir Hiram says that the Wright machine when improved slightly will be able to cross and recross the British Channel three times in one night. The author of this unique book discusses in detail the possibility of England's being raided, giving route maps from Continent points for invasion through the air.

Hepburn, Alonzo Barton. Artificial waterways and commercial development, (with a history of the Erie Canal.) N. Y., Macmillan, 1909. c. 9+115 p. D. cl., $1 net.

Writer is author of "The contest for sound money." His argument, that the function of artificial water navigation is to supplement and complement, not to rival, railways, is set forth with convincing directness, and he leaves the reader in no doubt as to the folly of neglecting the most obvious means of cheap transportation at our command. The book gives the history of the Erie Canal as typical, and then applies the lessons deduced therefrom to the problems involved in the development of all artificial waterways. Much light is thrown incidentally on the commercial importance of the Panama canal.

Inman, Rev. Herbert Escott. The quest of Douglas Holmes; with original drawings by Arthur Twidle. N. Y., Frederick Warne & Co., 1909. 6+441 p. D. cl., $1.50.

A big warm-hearted man, known in Australia only as Harry Holmes, is suddenly crushed to death while trying to save a small boy from a falling tree. Before dying he tells his "chum" his history and his real name, giving him money to travel to England and find his boy's grandfather, a man of wealth. The "chum" goes to England and finds another man enjoying the wealth belonging to the boy, whose grandfather has died. The "chum's" silence is bought and he leaves the boy to his fate. The boy is not without friends, and becomes a noted preacher, his work taking him to England. By chance he gets a clue to his real name and history and his quest begins. In the end he obtains his fortune and the woman he loves.

The author realizes that the dream of most city men is to have a home in the country. He shows them how unnecessary it is to wait years for this purpose and tells how log cabins can be built in beautiful places with great rapidity. The methods of construction given are those of a thorough workman. The author concludes that any one with time and will may have a summer home in the woods.

Kirkham, Stanton Davis. The philosophy of self-help: an application of practical psychology to daily life. N. Y., Putnam, 1909. c. 6+272 p. D. cl., $1.25 net.

A book by the author of "The ministry of beauty," etc., designed to show how, by a training and use of the mind, it is possible for everyone to secure at least a large measure of mental health and physical well-being. Mr. Kirkham's work is firmly founded upon a rock of philosophy; the author's sanity and common sense banish all extreme and fantastic claims that fly in the face of reason and experience; the thought is reduced to the simplest form and is free from technical terms; the ideas are easily grasped and put into practice.

Macnoughtan, S. Three Miss Graemes. N. Y., Dutton, 1908, [1909.] 340 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Story begins on an island off the western coast of Scotland, to which a furiously jealous husband has taken his wife and three little girls. The wife has died and the three girls grew to be 20, 18 and 16 years old under the care of a distinguished French woman, who made the history of the world and all literatures real to them. The father dies leaving nothing. A friend rents the island home and secures £400 a year for the girls. They go to England and the contrast of the new and former conditions makes the story.

nam, 1909. c. 38+472 p. O. hf. cl., $3.50 net.

Author seeks to assign to Las Casas his true place among those great spirits who have defended and advanced the cause of just liberty and at the same time to describe the conditions under which the curse of slavery was first introduced into North America. Africans were first imported from Spain to take the place of the rapidly disappearing Indians. The author was the translator of "The letters of Cortes," a most scholarly work which by its editorial notes gave him a high place among the authorities on the history of early sixteenth century America.

Orcutt, W. Dana. The spell; il. by Gertrude Demain Hammond. N. Y., Harper, 1909. c. 352 p. D. cl., +$1.50.

A young bride and bridegroom from Boston come to Florence to spend a few months. They take a beautiful villa, and have a house party of intimate friends. The husband is a handsome, cultured fellow, who has spent many of his student days in Florence, and as he has a book under way based on the old world classics soon comes again under the spell of the priceless works of a grand old library. His wife's friend, an intellectual young woman, who spends many hours in the library helping him in his work, is the cause of much unhappiness. His wife is a generous, noble woman, but it is not long before a climax is reached.

By the author of "The second generation" and other novels. The novel deals with society life in Washington and tells the story of a young western lawyer who is striving to make a name for himself in national politics and carries every thing before him by his cyclonic forcefulness. The hero is said to be a pen picture of some one of the men who are prominent in national politics.

Pownall, C. Ashsheton Whatey. Thomas Pownall, M.P., F.R.S., governor of Massachusetts Bay, author of The Letters of Junius; with a supplement comparing the colonies of Kings George III and Edward VII. London, Henry Stevens, Son & Stiles, 1908. N. Y., William Abbatt, 1909. 9+470+56+25 p. por. maps, fold. facsimils, fold chart, Q. cl., $5 net.

Describes for the first time the life of a man of distinction in the early days of George III., who was intimately acquainted with the conditions of the Colonies from 1753 to 1760, during three years of which he served as Governor of Massachusetts, appointed to the position by William Pitt. The author is convinced that his distant kinsman wrote the famous "Letters of Junius," with the clerical assistance of Philip Francis, while he was in the House of Commons opposing the King and his ministry. The arguments given for this theory of authorship are formidable indeed. Thirty portraits, views and facsimiles add to the value of the book as a contribution to American history.

Rice, Allen Thorndike, comp. and ed. Reminiscences of Abraham Lincoln by distinguished men of his time. New and rev. ed. N. Y., Harper, 1909. c. '85, '88. 10+428 p. por. facsim., O. cl., $2 net.

Contains recollections by such men as Ulysses S. Grant, Henry Ward Beecher, Walt Whitman, Charles A. Dana, Robert G. Ingersoll, Benjamin F. Butler, Frederick Douglass, and other men whose identity with the nation has been close and diverse. The late Allen Thorndike Rice collected the material while editor of The North American Review, and the matter, prefixed by his own valuable introductory chapter, has been revised and edited for the new volume. Lincoln's personality is made the keystone, and the composite portrait traces an extraordinary variety and consensus of impression.

Schechter, Solomon. Some aspects of Rabbinic theology. N. Y., Macmillan, 1909. c. 22+384 p. O. cl., $2.25 net.

The book has grown out of a course of lectures delivered at various learned centres and out of a series of essays published in the Jewish Quarterly Review, beginning in 1894. The author sets himself the task of giving a presentation of Rabbinic opinion on a number of theological topics, which opinion forms an integral part of the consciousness of the bulk of the nation or "Catholic Israel." The introductory chapter gives the nature of the literature with which he deals. Full titles of books quoted (4 p.)

The author was for many years professor of history at Washington and Lee University. He wrote "The life of Robert E. Lee" in Putnam's Heroes of the nations series and other historic works. The present biography is based upon an examination of original sources, as far as these are available. The accounts of Jackson's early life and of the development of his personal character are drawn for the most part from Robert L. Dabney's biography and from Jackson's "Life and letters" by Mrs. Jackson. The "Official records" of the Civil War, of course, constitute the main source of the accounts given of Jackson's military operations. Bibliography (3 p.). Index.

THE BOOKS OF 1908.

THE books of 1908 follow closely in the footsteps of the books of 1907, but slightly falling behind them in numbers, and reaching comparatively to about the same degree of merit. Aside from important contributions to many classes of literature, and notable additions of new names to the already extensive list of American authors, with the consequent enlargement of the publishers' list, and the remarkable growth of business, the only very striking feature of the literary year, was the great tidal wave of fiction, which, for the moment, threatened to overwhelm every other class of literature. While largely an American wave, its size and force were added to by English novelists, the best of whose works were reprinted on this side, with those of French and Italian writers in translations.

Out of the 9254 books placed to the year's credit, fifteen hundred were novels, a fact unprecedented in the history of any one year of book publishing in the past. In all this display of what claims to be original work, no great genius seems to have come to the surface, no Thackeray, or Balzac, to find permanent place in ages to come upon our book shelves. Men and women writers known for good work, upheld their reputations, in examples of the novel at its best, as we know it to-day. The majority, however, of some of the most successful and popular novels, were singularly commonplace and lacking in individuality. The dearth of originality in the host of unknown writers swelling the novelists ranks, found fertile illustration. The novel of questionable morality, dull and vulgar as a rule, ceased to create a sensation.

Reputable booksellers refusing to handle it, the libraries ignoring it, the press and its reviewers condemning it, it gradually disappeared out of respectable society. The novelizing of popular plays was responsible for a number of ephemeral works, as was the use of the novel as a means for castigating our much-to-be sympathized with "idle rich"; for holding up to contempt and scorn our marriage relations, or for spreading a new religion or gaining recruits for a so-called new science, all subjects outside the province of a romance, which the real lover of the novel would be glad to see forever eliminated from his chosen line. The climax, no doubt was reached in fiction in 1908, the year, nevertheless, leaving with us a realization of a rich promise of work in other fields. Many fine biographies and memoirs were published, with monographs on the numerous social questions agitating the whole world at present; education, with the diverse theories of leading educators, called out thoughtful volumes, while the literature of psycho-therapeutics gave a great jump, testifying to the wide-spread interest the new mental healing has created.

Probably the name of no American writer of the early days of our literature had greater powers to conjure with than that of Donald Grant Mitchell, the genial "Ik Marvel." He was as deeply loved personally as he was admired as a writer. We have to note his loss, at an advanced age, in 1908. Nearer our own time and equally regretted is Joel Chandler Harris, the author of the "Bro' Rabbit" stories, under the name of "Uncle Remus." Mrs. Louise Chandler Moulton, novelist and poet, passed away, Mrs. Annie Lee Wister, widely known as a translator of German novels, and Miss Katharine Prescott Wormeley, whose fame as a translator rests upon her fine literary interpretations of Balzac, and Moliere.

Famous educators, whose life's work ended were Dr. Charles Eliot Norton, Dr. Daniel Coit Gilman and Prof. Ernest Francis Fenellosa. From the ranks of the journalists are missed the veteran Murat Halstead, "5th column" Alden of the New York Times, and Joseph Howard, Jr. Bronson Howard, dean of American dramatists, wrote his last play.

Poor "Ouida"—Louise de la Ramé—is one of the few English novelists, famous the world over, whose death we have to record. John Charton Collins, an English writer on English literature, is no more.

The death roll of French writers embraced famous names. Among world renowned writers and dramatists we regret to note Victorien Sardou, Francis Edouard Coppée and Ludovic Halevy. Italy lost Edmondo de Amicis, the writer of travels, Denmark, Carl Ewald, whose novels have been translated into many other languages, and Norway, also a leading author, Jonas Lauritz Lie, who wrote novels and was also a teacher and journalist.

FICTION.

AMONG American novels, two stand out as especially strong and picturesque, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," by John Fox, Jr., and "Judith of the Cumberland," by Alice MacGowan, both tales of primitive passion, with scenes among the southern mountains and their lawless inhabitants. Mary Johnston's "Lewis Rand," the first novel from her pen in four years, has a leading Virginia lawyer for its hero, in the days of Thomas Jefferson; "The Big Fellow," by Frederick Palmer, and "Peter," by Francis Hopkinson Smith, are told with delightful simplicity, and are wholesome, unsensational tales. The first, "The Big Fellow," following the inspiring career of a representative American, said to stand for President-elect Taft, and the second giving a glimpse of old New York in the life of an old-fashioned gentleman, that is quite charming. F. Marion Crawford completed his trilogy, begun with "Fair Margaret" of the operatic stage in America and Europe with "The Primadonna" and "The Diva's Ruby," both rich in color and dramatic incident. Palm Beach, Florida, is the scene of "The Firing Line," in which Robert W. Chambers presents new pictures of rich and fashionable New Yorkers at work and at play. "Mr. Crewe's Career," by Winston Churchill, offers a graphic delineation of reform politics in a New England town and the unscrupulous workings of a great railroad. Married life as it exists, or is said to exist in the United States, was made the subject of an unusual number of novels. Professor Herrick's "Together" is an elaborate study of the careers of a half dozen couples belonging to the fashionable set of St. Louis and New York; "Tangled Wedlock," by Edgar Jepson, treats the same subject amidst the surroundings of the bohemian and artistic life of New York; "The Dissolving Circle," by W. O. Lillibridge, has its scene at Sioux Falls, S. D., its characters the men and women forming the colony seeking divorce; "Amabel Channice," by Anne Douglas Sedgwick; "A Modern Prometheus," by Martha Gilbert Dickinson; "The Reaping," by Mary Imlay

Taylor, and "The Bond," by Neith Boyce, have all a distinct literary quality—an unhappy marriage being the central motive of each, variously in England, Italy, and the United States.

"The Ancient Law" is Ellen Glasgow's contribution to the year's fiction, the hero being a criminal of good family who had stolen trust funds and served a term in prison—the world never forgetting his one mistake. "The Fair Mississippian," written by Mary Noailles Murfree ("Charles Egbert Craddock"), has a supernatural element and a very worldly one. The supposed Indian blood in the veins of a beautiful girl living in an Alaskan mining town gives the title of "The Barrier" to a novel by Rex E. Beach. "The Princess Dehra" is a sequel to the popular "Colonel of the Red Huzzars," by Reed Scott. "The Blotting Book," by E. F. Benson, is a charmingly fresh detective story, as are "The Coast of Chance," by Esther and Lucia Chamberlain, and "The Clutch of Circumstance," by James Barnes. Harold Bindloss's "By Right of Purchase" carries the reader to a great wheat growing district in Western Canada. "The Car and the Lady," by Percy F. Megargel and Grace Sartwell Mason, is an automobile story, telling of a race from New York to Portland, Oregon. "The Supreme Gift," by Grace Denis Litchfield is the heroine's love and sacrifice for the poor.

The leading book in English fiction is considered to be Mrs. Humphrey Ward's "The Testing of Diana Mallory," a warm hearted, gracious young heroine, who is made to suffer for the sins of her mother. William De Morgan's "Somehow Good," scored as great a success as his former novels, its theme being the complete suspension of memory in a man who wanders away from his home and after many years again meets his wife and child, without knowing them. Hichens's "A Spirit in Prison," takes up "The Call of the Blood," sixteen years later, and while bringing out the true story of the hero of that novel, is a complete work in itself, with its scene in Italy, on the beautiful Bay of Naples. Marie Corelli's "Holy Orders"—a strong arraignment of the drink problem—had a decided popular success. "The Heart of a Child" chronicles the varied career of Sally Snape, a small girl of the slums, who becomes Lady Kidderminster, passing unscathed through exceptional temptations. The story is from the pen of "Frank Danby" (Mrs. Julia Frankau), the author of "Pigs in Clover." The lovely Dartmoor country is again taken by Eden Phillpotts, as a setting for his latest romance, "The Mother of the Man." Maurice Hewlett's "Halfway House," and Anthony Hope Hawkins's "The Great Miss Driver," are delightful examples of the English country novel of to-day. "Maxwell Gray" (the pseudonym of Mary G. Tuttiett), whose chief fame as a novelist rests upon "The Silence of Dean Maitland," produced a light, pretty story in "The Suspicions of Mrs. Allonby." Anglo-Indian life in the early eighties, with its hardships and pleasures, as found in a military station on India's frontier, is described with remarkable accuracy and vivacity in two works by Maud Diver—"Captain Desmond" and "The Great Amulet,"—the one being a sequel of the other. A talented husband and wife, each contributed a notable work to the year's output. The title of Mr. Thurston's novel was "Mirage," that of Mrs. Thurston's, "The Fly on the Wheel."

From the French we received in translation three volumes of René Bazin's works—one of the most modern of French writers, namely, "The Nun (L'isolée)," "The Coming Harvest (Le blé qui lève)," and "Redemption (De toute son âme)," Paul Bourget's "The Weight of the Name (L'émigré)" deals, as does the first named novel of Bazin's, with the effects of the new law in France of separation of church and state.

From the Italian came "The Politician," by Fogazzaro, dealing largely with Italian politics of 1882. "A Woman at Bay (Una Donna)," by Sibilla Aleramo, and "The Forewarners (Gli Ammonitori)," by Giovanni Cena, both by modern Italian novelists, treat of present-day grievances and profess to be autobiographical.

BIOGRAPHY, MEMOIRS, CORRESPONDENCE.

One of the most delightful American biographies of the year was Greenslet's "Life of Thomas Bailey Aldrich," depicting an unusually interesting personality, and a career marked with success in many lines of literature. "The Life and Letters of George Bancroft," the aged historian, fills two large volumes, as edited and compiled by M. A. Howe. Aside from the importance of the work as a biography, it is a unique contribution to the whole personal history of his time. "The Reminiscences of Lady Randolph Churchill," embraces the wonderful social experiences of a New York girl in English diplomatic and political circles during forty years past. Biographies and memories of the stage were a feature of 1908, both here and in England.

From our own writers we received an excellent life of "Richard Mansfield, the Man and Actor," by Paul Wilstad, and under "Other Days," the veteran dramatic critic of The Tribune, William Winter, gave permanent form to some of his memories of great actors of the past, and of his personal friendships with many who are no more. "The Reminiscences of Carl Schurz" was brought to a close with a third volume, the material for which having been left by General Schurz in good shape at his death.

"Abraham Lincoln," the boy and the man, by James Morgan, author of "Theodore Roosevelt," written on the same lines, is one of many volumes upon the Great Emancipator, called forth by his coming centenary. The celebration during 1909 of the birthday of the author of "The Raven" probably suggested J. Albert Macy's life of "Edgar Allen Poe" in "Beacon Biographies of Eminent Americans." F. A. Jones's "Thomas Alva Edison" covers sixty years of the famous inventor's life. "Letters and Literary Memorials of Samuel J. Tilden" is an interesting souvenir of the one-time great Democratic leader. "The Life of Alice Freeman Palmer," by her husband, Professor Palmer, depicts the short but brilliant career of the late president of Wellesley College. Two erratic literary men claimed consideration in two ambitious volumes, viz., "Concerning Lafcadio Hearn," by Dr. G. M. Gould, and "My Life," the story of Josiah Flynt Willard's life, told by himself. "Thomas Chatterton" and "John Keats" had their sad stories revised, the first, by C. E. Russell, who aims to show that "the marvelous boy" has been unjustly treated by his English biographers; the second, by Professor Hancock, of Haverford College, who claims to give new and authentic details of one of the most pathetic figures in English literature. To the Heroes of the Nations Series, two new numbers were added: "William the Conqueror," by Frank Merry Stenton, and "Charles the Bold," by Ruth Putnam.

In English biography, "The Life of James McNeill Whistler," the great American artist, whose art life is more deeply identified with England than America, was an important and valuable work, both as a personal record and an art history. It is an authorized edition, planned by Whistler himself and written by his intimate friends, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pennell. Ellen Terry's "Story of My Life" is a delightful picture of her own delightful self, and of the English stage of the past fifty years. "Ian Maclaren," the life of the Rev. John Watson, D.D., by the Rev. W.

Robertson Nicoll, the editor of The English Bookman, appeals to all lovers of the best in literature. "Life and Letters of Herbert Spencer," by David Duncan, conflicts in no way with the "Autobiography" of the sympathetic philosopher. Literary Lives had a new volume written for the series by Edmund W. Gosse, on "Henrik Ibsen."

The reprints of English biographical volumes were very small—many fine works, however, were imported in limited editions. Among the more notable was "Perdita," a romantic narrative of the career of the beautiful Mary Robinson, an English actress and writer of the last half of the 18th century, who, unfortunately, attracted the attentions of the Prince of Wales, son of George III. Stanley V. Makower is the writer of this interesting work. "The Lover of Queen Elizabeth," being the life and character of Robert Dudley, Earl of Leicester, by Mrs. Aubrey Richardson, opens again a much discussed scandal in English history. "Some Women, Loving and Luckless," from the French of Teodarde Wyzewa, is a gossipy series of sketches of women of history, who loved unfortunately, or to whom fate was unkind. "The Women Bonapartes," by Hugh Noel Williams, tells the rise to fame and power of the three sisters of Napoleon. "Louis Napoleon and the Genesis of the Second Empire," is a new life of the Emperor Napoleon III. from F. H. Cheetham. Alice Shield, who was joint-author with Andrew Lang of "The King Over the Water," has written the life of the last grandson of James II., under the title "Henry Stuart, Cardinal of York, and His Times." The much discussed Julie de Lespinasse is the subject of Camilla Jebb's "A Star of the Salons." "A Princess of Intrigue" tells the story of Anne Geneviève de Bourbon, Duchess de Longueville, and her times, and is by the author of "Madame Recamier and Her Friends," Hugh Noel Williams.

HISTORY.

Two thorough histories of two American Commonwealths, in the series of that name, were among the most interesting contributions to this class; the one, "Wisconsin," was from the pen of Reuben Gold Thwaites, secretary and superintendent of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin; the other, "Minnesota," by W. Watts Folwell, professor of political economy in the University of Minnesota. "The Struggle for American Independence" is a continuation and enlargement in two volumes of the author's "True History of the American Revolution," published some years ago in one volume, by Sydney G. Fisher.

George Trumbull Ladd's "In Corea with Marquis Ito," offers not only personal details of a most interesting character, but much historical data not easily obtainable. "The Making of the English Constitution, 449-1485," by Professor White of the University of Minnesota, while primarily a text book, appeals strongly to the general reader. An illuminating series of letters from the Philippines, by a lady who made the trip there with her husband, Professor Moses, who served with Judge Taft in 1900-02 on the first Philippine Commission, came to us under the title "Unofficial Letters of an Official's Wife," by Mrs. Edith Briggs Moses. An American's adventures with the Macedonian revolutionists is comprised in Arthur D. Smith's "Fighting the Turk in the Balkans." "The Mystery of the Pinckney Draught," while sounding like a detective story, is a careful study in constitutional history, by former Chief Justice of the United States Court of Claims, Charles Cooper Nott, which aims to show how much of the work of Charles Pinckney of South Carolina is embodied in our Constitution.

In English history the most important and valuable work was Lord Cromer's "Modern Egypt" (2 v.). Of timely interest is Weale's "The Coming Struggle in Eastern Asia." A work based upon thirty years' residence in the East is Dr. J. P. Jones' "India, Its Life and Thought." The present condition of the Shah's empire is described with pen and kodak in W. P. Cresson's "Persia, the Awakening East." "France and the Alliances," in the struggle for the balance of power is picturesquely treated by André Tardieu, the honorable secretary to the French diplomatic service. From the Italian was translated the third and fourth volumes of Professor Ferrero's "The Greatness and Decline of Rome," much praised for its attractive literary quality and the freshness of the presentation of its subject. The author is now visiting the United States. Also from the Italian comes the third and completing parts of a great work, "Venice," by Pompeo Molmenti.

DESCRIPTION AND TRAVEL.

One of the most delightful of the season's many volumes of this class by American writers was Howells's "Roman Holidays," and one of the handsomest from an artistic standpoint. Hichens's "Egypt and Its Monuments." "Florida Enchantments," by A. W. and Julian A. Dimock, and "Highways and Byways of the Pacific Coast," by Clifton Johnson, describe and picture beautiful parts of our own country, while Hornaday's "Camp-Fires on Desert and Lava" tells the story with the aid of the camera, of an expedition made from Arizona, across the desert to northwestern Mexico. The number of women who penetrated alone into the most remote corners of the globe in search of adventure and information is beyond all precedent. Maud Howe (Mrs. John Elliott) is the author of "Sun and Shadow in Spain"; Caroline Kirkland of "Some African Highways," giving an account of a journey of two American women to Uganda and the Transvaal. Mrs. Ella Higginson of "Alaska, the Great Country," and Mrs. Anne Hollingsworth Wharton of "An English Honeymoon." Mrs. Elizabeth Champney told of the "Romance of Roman Villas," in the time of the Renaissance, and Mrs. Mary King Waddington of "Chateau and Country Life in France." An interesting account of old Boston in colonial days is offered in "St. Botolph's Town," by Mary Caroline Crawford. Lilian Whiting discoursed of "Paris the Beautiful" in her usual dramatic style. Esther Singleton was the compiler and editor of three characteristic works, "Great Rivers of the World," "Turkey and the Balkan States" and "Switzerland," all described through extracts from great writers. And Mrs. Edith Wharton, the novelist, took "A Motor Flight Through France." Motoring was in high favor as a mode of locomotion, especially abroad, restoring in a way the romance to travel. Some of the books giving accounts of various trips are: "Motoring Abroad," by Frank Presbrey; "Motor Days in England," by J. M. Dillon; "Through Persia in a Motor Car, by Russia and the Caucasus," by Claude Anet, translated from the French; and "British Highways and Byways from a Motor Car," by T. Dowler Murphy.

"Untrodden English Ways" embraces many unhackneyed themes connected with nooks and corners of old England. Henry C. Shelley is the author. Rich also in romantic and historical episodes is "Old Edinburgh," by F. W. Watkeys. "Shamrock Farm" describes a ramble taken through Ireland by Plummer F. Jones. "Hungary and the Hungarians," by W. B. F. Boville, presents the Hungarian point of view to English readers in picturesque form. Old World Travel Series was inaugurated with "Along the Riviéras of France and Italy," written and illustrated by Gordon Horne. Francis Mil-toun and Blanche McManus, author and artist, collaborated in a handsome work "In the Land of the Mosques and Minarets," having for its subjects picturesque facts relating to Algeria and Tunisia.

LITERARY HISTORY AND MISCELLANY.

The editors of several leading American magazines gathered their editorials and essays together in volumes well worth preserving. Col. Harvey of Harper's, under the title of "Women, Etc., Some Leaves from an Editor's Diary," scored the fair sex brilliantly and wittily on all subjects, from the right of women to "enhance nature charms" to her right to vote. Mr. Alden, for forty years editor of Harper's Magazine, published a selection of his admirable contributions to the Editor's Study in "Magazine Writing and the New Literature." Bliss Perry, editor of the Atlantic, gave permanent form to his "Park Street Papers," concerned with the magazine itself and its famous contributors.

The still growing popularity of all subjects Italian was evinced in numerous monographs. Specially to be mentioned among the issues of last year in literary history are "A Teacher of Dante and Other Studies in Italian Literature," by Nathan Haskell Dole, and "Italica, Studies in Italian Life and Letters," by William Roscoe Thayer. Among other American writers who added to the year's brilliancy, and who should not go unmentioned, is Prosser Hall Frye, whose "Literary Reviews and Criticisms" have graced the pages of the Evening Post, the Bookman and other literary papers.

Included in the best English literary works seen on this side were "All Things Considered," papers on current English topics, by Gilbert Keith Chesterton, restful chapters, full of sage reflections and shrewd humor and observation; "At Large," by Arthus Christopher Benson. "Realities and Ideals," forty-four social, political, literary and artistic essays, by Frederic Harrison, and "An Alabama Student and Other Biographical Essays," by the ever-welcome Dr. Osler, of Oxford University. "Four Victorian Poets"—Clough, Arnold, Rossetti and Morris—were made the subjects of an exhaustive study by the Rev. Stopford A. Brooks. Winifred Stephens wrote of "French Novelists of To-day"; R. A. Scott-James of "Modernism and Romance," while a number of Lady Ritchie's (Anne Isabelle Thackeray) delightful writings were issued with the title of "Blackstick Papers"—the title having been taken from her father's well-known "Fairy Blackstick."

Works of references were plentiful, all showing industry and research. Especially appealing to the musical public is "Stokes's Encyclopedia of Music and Musicians," compiled on broad lines by L. G. De Bekker. Indispensable office tools with literary workers are: "The American Catalog—1905-1907," "The English Catalogue of Books for 1907," Fletcher's "Annual Library Index, 1907," Poole's "Index to Periodicals, 1907," and Wilson's "Cumulative Book Index, 1907." "Men of America," a biographical dictionary of contemporaries, edited by S. W. Leonard, is an entirely new publication with freshly prepared contents brought up to date. The new "Who's Who in America" for 1908-1909 is rich in additional names, and "Who's Who on the Stage, 1908," is the dramatic reference book and biographical dictionary of the theatre in a revised form, edited by Walter Bronne and E. De Roy Koch. "The New Schaff-Herzog Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge," in its reconstructed state, will embrace twelve volumes when completed, the first volume of which was published in 1908. "The New Encyclopedia of Social Reform" is practically a new work as now offered. Bibliographies of special note are Adelaide Hasse's Index of Economic Material in Documents of the States of the United States: "Massachusetts," "New York," "Rhode Island," Grace Griffin's "Writings on American History, 1906," and "A Bibliography of Thoreau," by Francis H. Allen.

POETRY AND THE DRAMA.

"The Poems of Edmund Clarence Stedman" embraces all of his work in the past, he considered worthy of preservation, with a number of new poems not included in former editions. This representative volume from one of the last of the old guard, possesses a melancholy interest in view of his recent death. Will Carlton's "Drifted In" includes the most recent poems of the popular author of "Farm Ballads." Harrison S. Morris's "Lyrics and Landscapes," refined and thoughtful poems, by one of the younger band of American poets, found ready appreciation. A posthumous volume of poems, by Richard Hovey, was brought out by his wife, with the title, "To the End of the Trail," as a companion to the author's "Along the Trail."

ART WORKS AND WORKS ON ART.

While the practical and useful works on art occupied a wide field, real art works, in the sense of the past, were almost wholly unknown from American publishers, or, indeed, from other sources. In all classes of publications, the richly illustrated books from photographs were seen in abundance and have been mentioned. Here we shall only quote a few of the more or less prominent works relating to art, such as Mrs. Julia De Wolf Addison's "Art and Crafts in the Middle Ages," Leonard Williams's "Arts and Crafts of Older Spain," T. Francis Bumpus's "Cathedrals and Churches of Northern Italy," Preyer's "Art of the Netherland Galleries" and Esther Singleton's "Holland."

Valuable works for the student are comprised in Hind's "Short History of Engraving and Etching," from one who is an authority on the subject, being connected with the department of engraving in the British Museum; in "How to Appreciate Prints," Frank Weitenkampf, also an authority and for some years curator of the print department of the New York Public Library, and in Ralph Nevill's "French Prints of the Eighteenth Century." La Farge's lectures on "The Higher Life in Art" will be found illuminating.

As we group under the above heading works on the drama and on music, we must mention, as having attracted attention, Prof. Felix Schelling's "Elizabethan Drama, 1558-1642"; "The American Stage of To-day," by Walter Prichard Eaton, and "The Appreciation of the Drama," by C. H. Caffin; and in music as of especial interest to the general reader, G. P. Upton's "Musical Memories," delightful recollections of celebrities of the operatic stage of the half century, 1850-1900. Mr. Upton has been musical critic during most of the years his memories cover. H. E. Krehbiel, who wrote a companion volume, "Chapters of Opera," is the musical editor of the New York Tribune, and Lawrence Gilman, also critic and writer in similar fields, gave us "Aspects of Modern Opera."

POLITICAL AND SOCIAL SCIENCE.

The additions to this class are almost entirely from American writers and deal largely with questions of government, being more manuals of instruction than original works. Andrew Carnegie in "Problems of To-day" takes up the subjects of wealth, labor and socialism in his usual vigorous style, weaving many of his personal experiences into his narrative. Other prominent men discussed questions of the hour, seeking to throw fresh light on them. Senator Beveridge pointed out "The Meaning of the Times" in a volume so named of his numerous speeches on public occasions. Governor Hughes's "Addresses and Papers" show his attitude towards public office and party principles in a particularly lucid and intelligent manner. "Present Day Problems," gathered together a collection of addresses delivered at various times by President-elect William Howard Taft. "The American as He Is," by N. Murray Butler, represents three lectures—the American as a political type, the American apart from his government, and the American and the intellectual life, the author being the well-known president of Columbia University. Essays on "Municipal Administration" is a volume from the pen of Professor Farlie, of the University of Michigan. "Primary Elections" is a study of the history and tendencies of primary election legislation by C. E. Merriam, of the University of Chicago. Still to be named is "The American Executive and Executive Methods," by President Finley, of the College of New York, and J. F. Sanderson.

A plan for "The Elimination of the Tramp," by Edmond Kelly, formed one of the numbers of Question of the Day Series. "A Primer of Socialism," by Thomas Kirkup, gives a clear and impartial account of socialism. The author of "The Bitter Cry of the Children"—John Spargo—explains "The Spiritual Significance of Modern Socialism."

The negro question received elucidation in the following books: "Following the Color Line," by Ray Stannard Baker, a complete survey of the negro in America; "Studies in the American Race Problem," by Alfred Holt Stone, rich in valuable new information, and "Some Southern Questions," by W. Alex-MacCarkle, late governor of West Virginia.

RELIGION AND PHILOSOPHY.

Sermons, religious lectures on the extension of missions and mission work, and on the various church doctrines, make up the large output of the year's religious literature. Among fresh subjects engaging writer's attention were "Passing Protestantism and Coming Catholicism," by Dr. Newman Smyth, pastor of the First Congregational Church, New Haven, Conn., and "Modernism," which was carefully reviewed by Alfred Leslie Lilley, an English writer. Philosophy and religion are both prominent in Sir Oliver Lodge's "Science and Immortality," Frank Sargent Hoffman's "The Sphere of Religion," and "Personalism," by Borden Parker Bowne, professor of philosophy in Boston University since 1876.

The Emmanuel Movement, which illustrates the alliance of the most up-to-date neurological science and the simplest form of the Christian religion, initiated by the rector of the Emmanuel Church, Boston (Episcopal), Dr. Elwood Worcester in his book called "Religion and Medicine," and also in "The Living Word," was followed by many other works on the same lines, such as "Mind, Religion and Health," by Dr. Robert MacDonald, minister of the Washington Avenue Church, Brooklyn; "Health and Happiness, or Religious Therapeutics and Right Living," by Bishop Fallows of Chicago, and "The New Old Healing," by Henry Wood.

SCIENCE.

Professor Lowell, in his latest work on "Mars as the Abode of Life," not only presents new evidence regarding life in Mars, but outlines a new science which he calls the science of planetology, which is analogous to that which the great Swedish scientist, Arrhenius set forth in "Worlds in the Making," aiming to show the evolution of the universe. "The Solar System," by Charles Lane Poor, presents in untechnical language recent observations in astronomy. Certain optimistic teachings, which claim that old age and death may be deferred indefinitely, come from prominent scientists. Elie Metchnikoff, the sub-director of the Pasteur Institute of Paris, instructs in "The Prolongation of Life" and "The Nature of Man," the great benefits to be derived from correct living and a happy outlook in life. Professor Minot, of the Harvard Medical School, considered "The Problem of Age, Growth and Death." "The Coming Science," by Hereward Carrington, in a measure parallels the books just quoted, seeking as it does an optimistic philosophy of life. "Biology and Its Makers," by Professor Loey, of the Northwestern University, and "Heredity," by Professor Thomson, of Aberdeen, are rich in up-to-date scientific details.

The science of education seemed to deeply interest thoughtful writers. Among the many monographs on the subject we have only space for the more important ones. "Mind in the Making," by Professor Swift, of Washington University, St. Louis, is a study in mental development. "University Administration," by Charles William Eliot, late president of Harvard University, speaks on a subject upon which he is the greatest living authority. Abraham Flexner's "The American College," is a criticism of our educational system. John Corbin's "Which College for the Boy?" describes a group of typical American colleges and universities in attractive style. "The Kindergarten in American Education," is a summary of the kindergarten movement in the United States by Nina C. Vanderwalker. A small volume on "The Conditions and Tendencies of Technical Education in Germany," is full of information and suggestions and comes from Prof. Arthur H. Chamberlain, of Troop Polytechnic Institute, Pasadena, Cal.

AMERICAN BOOK PRODUCTION IN 1908.

THE book production of the United States during 1908, judged by the number of titles recorded in THE PUBLISHER'S WEEKLY, showed a slight decrease, compared with the figures of 1907, the most active year in the publishing business yet known. The difference is not sufficiently great to impair the credit claimed for 1908, as being fully up to 1907 in activity and enterprise in the issuing of books. In 1908 we recorded 9254 titles through our "Weekly Record of New Publications"—of which 8745 were new books and 509 new editions, against 9620 of 1907, of which 8925 were new books and 695 new editions—the loss to 1908 being 366 titles.

The figures of our tables possess an unusual interest. In the first table the enormous increase in works of fiction, and the losses in almost every other class of literature, plainly indicate the tendency of the day. Fiction takes the lead, as it has for a number of years, with 1489 books to its credit, being 318 more novels than before published in any one year. The classification of theology and religion follows, holding its place with a tenacity from which it is not easy to dislodge it. This year it is smaller in point of numbers than in 1907, showing a loss of 60 books. Poetry and the drama, which has gone up to the fourth place in our table from the fifth, shows a loss of 75 books. Literature and collected works, always a prolific class, lacks 29 titles to make it equal to 1907 in numbers. It takes a higher place in our table, having risen from the eighth place to the fifth. Biography and correspondence shows a loss of 75 books. There were 142 less juvenile works issued than in 1907. Description, geography and travel shows a loss of 67 books, education a loss of 90 books. Fine arts and illustrated works, which in 1907 made so fine a showing, had 82 less books to its credit in 1908. Excepting an increase of 28 books under political and social science, and of 8 books under history, there is but little further to record of importance in the other classifications. Out of the whole total of 9254 books recorded only 3749 were received at this office. The balance represents new editions of works; publications imported in very limited number and not sent for review; titles reported by publishers unaccompanied by books; titles taken from the accession cards supplied by the Library of Congress and titles gleaned by every means available at the price of eternal vigilance.

Table No. 1, that follows, illustrates the above facts very clearly, and gives the figures of 1907 for comparison with those of 1908.

Table No. 2 attempts to show the number of books manufactured in the United States in 1908—first, those by American authors; second, those by English or other foreign authors made in this country according to the demands of the copyright law, and third, the books in English, imported bound or in sheets, these three classes comprising the output of books of the United States in 1908. The first and second classes are almost all copyright books. This table, like the former, scarcely claims to be precise in its division, as it is impossible always to trace the history of a work, from its author to its final publication. The table shows 6349 books by American authors against 6517 of 1907; 1145 books by English or other foreign authors (made here) against 1319 of 1907, and 1760 books or sheets imported, against 1784 of 1907. The reprints were, as usual, the largest in fiction amounting to 456, far less, however, than in several previous years, when almost double that number of English or other foreign novels were reprinted. The most evident fact demonstrated by this table is the great number of books by American authors published in 1908 in all classes of literature. A second fact more observable than in several past years, is the few reprints of English works in comparison with the importations, which cannot be accounted for by the increased activity of the year.

BOOK PRODUCTION IN ENGLAND IN 1908.

THE London Publisher's Circular, in presenting the statistics of book production in England during 1908, says that "like most businesses, publishing suffered a slight depression during the past year, though it is still well above any year previous to 1907. The total number of new books recorded as published in 1908 is 9821, a decrease of 93 as compared with 1907. This decrease is inconsiderable, but on analysing the figures it will be seen that there also has been a fall in the average class of book published. Thus in new books (as opposed to new editions) there has been a decrease of 189 during the year, while there has been an increase of 96 in new editions. That is to say, a considerably greater proportion of cheap reprints have appeared. This has been the case especially in fiction, religion and philosophy, and political and social economy; and an example is afforded by the fiction published during July, when 177 books were issued, of which 88 or practically 50 per cent. were new editions. Taking the year's output class by class there are the following decreases: Religion, 28; educational, 60; political and social, 92; history, 13; year books, 24; medicine, 32; and belles-lettres, 79; while there are increases in the following classes: Fiction, 5; law, 17; arts and sciences, 55; voyages, 49; poetry, 42; and miscellaneous, 67. The information to hand seems to indicate an increased output during the coming year, the figures for December, 1908, showing an increase of 26 per cent, over the previous year, and no doubt the total for the year 1909 will run into five figures."

The analytical table, as divided into classes, makes the following showing:

FOREIGN BOOK PRODUCTION.

BELGIAN BOOK PRODUCTION IN 1907.

La Belgique Artistique et Littéraire in its issue for March, 1908, gives the total amount of the literary production of Belgium for 1907 as 2107 works. This amount is 303 less than in 1906 and 517 less than in 1905.

FRENCH BOOK PRODUCTION IN 1908.

THE book production in France during the year 1908, as recorded by the Bibliographie de la France, was 11,073, or 288 more than in 1907. The number of musical compositions recorded in 1908 was 7648, or 117 less than in 1907; and the number of engravings, lithographs and photographs registered in 1908 was 468, or 364 less than were registered in 1907 and 586 less than in 1906.

The difference in the records of the Bibliographie de la France, which records all printed matter reported to the book trade and those of the Bureau of the Ministry of the Interior, which in its records takes notice of only the more stable element in the French book production, amount to 2275 titles..

BOOK PRODUCTION IN THE NETHERLANDS IN 1907.

THE literary output of the Netherlands for 1907 is computed at 3408 works, which corresponds very closely with that of 1904, the high water mark in ten years. These figures are taken from the titles quoted in the "Table des Matières Scientifiques," the first part of Brinkman's "Alphabetische Lijst van Boeken, Landkarten," etc., published by A. W. Sijthoff, at Leyden. They include also the reprints, pamphlets and translations. The increase is specially noticeable in the departments of theology, geography, fine arts and theatre, while novels and romance have sensibly decreased. In no other country do the figures show such stability and accuracy.

RUSSIAN BOOK PRODUCTION IN 1907.

ACCORDING to the Bureau de la Presse of St. Petersburg, the book production of 1907 amounted to 9607 works, of which 7271 were written in Russian, 786 in Polish, 304 in German, 253 in Lettish, 235 in Esthonian, 199 in Hebrew, 144 in Tartar, 104 in Armenian, 53 in Lithuanian, 45 in French, 26 in Georgian, 24 in Arabian, etc.

SWISS BOOK PRODUCTION IN 1907.

THE records of the National Library show the book production of Switzerland, during 1907, to have been 3085 books, 6100 pamphlets, 1519 leaflets, 311 maps and charts and 684 views, portraits and plates. The table includes as volumes every publication numbering upward of 100 pages; as pamphlets, all publications from 4 to 100 pages, which also include society publications, publications of universities and reports of experts and about 700 reviews and journals, each counted as a volume.

BOOK PRODUCTION IN URUGUAY, 1902-1906.

L'Annuario Estadístico, covering the years 1904-1906, published at Montevideo in 1908, includes the list of works published from 1902 to 1906, entered under authors. The totals are as follows: 1902, 107; 1903, 81; 1904, 54; 1905, 176; 1906, 110. This bibliography includes publications of every class, reports, statutes, public documents, musical compositions, educational text-books and new editions.

The following is one way of estimating the relative popularity of various novels of 1908:

Six Times Mentioned.

The Shuttle.

Fives Times Mentioned.

The Weavers, The Lady of the Decoration, The Barrier, Mr. Crewe's Career.

Three Times Mentioned.

The Black Bag, The Coast of Chance, The Lure of the Mask.

Twice Mentioned.

The Daughter of Anderson Crow, The Ancient Law, Somehow Good, Old Wives for New, The Husbands of Edith, Halfway House, The Firing Line, Together, The Man from Brodney's, The Little Brown Jug at Kildare, Peter.

Once Mentioned.

The Fruit of the Tree, Satan Sanderson, Days Off, The Old Peabody Pew, Three Weeks, Rosalind at Red Gate, The Great Secret, The Fair Moon of Bath, The Primadonna, Rose MacLeod, The Chaperon, The Wayfarers, The Post Girl, The Circular Staircase, Lewis Rand, The Testing of Diana Mallory, The Trail of the Lonesome Pine.

In the lists for 1908 there were represented a greater number of books than in any other year since we began compiling these tables. There were thirty-six titles as against thirty in 1907, thirty in 1906, twenty-nine in 1905, thirty-one in 1904, thirty-two in 1903, twenty-eight in 1901 and twenty-nine in 1900. On account of two of the books being the result of collaboration the thirty-six titles represent thirty-eight authors. Of these twenty-two are men and sixteen women, a much more even division than in 1907, when the figures were twenty-five to seven. In comparing the American popularity of English and American books we are leaving out entirely Sir Gilbert Parker, Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett and Mrs. Williamson. Of the remaining thirty-five, twenty-eight are American and seven English.

AMERICAN BOOKS IN AUSTRALIA.

It is a well-known fact in the trade that books by American authors are finding increasing favor in Australia. In speaking of this trend H. H. Champion, in The Book Lover, which is an authority upon such matters in Australia, says: "Our taste is being more rapidly assimilated to the popular taste in the United States than to that in England. If a book is sold by the thousand in America, it is a pretty sure thing that it will go here, but the vox populi of Merrie England is by no means an indication that a book will be suited in tone, subject, or plot to the masses of the people of Australasia." The general reason assigned for this is that the American book is all for "action," while the British book indulges in much "moralizing," analysis of character, motive, and the like, for which Australians do not much care.

PITTSBURGH BOOKSELLERS' AND STATIONERS' ASSOCIATION BANQUET.

THE eighth annual banquet of the Pittsburgh Booksellers' and Stationers' Association was held in the beautiful rooms of the Union Club on Tuesday evening, January 26. About seventy-five guests were present. The banquet was marked by a splendid spirit and the best of good fellowship.

Seated at the speakers' table were: Geo. H. Alexander, President; Lee S. Smith, President of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce; Geo. A. Olney, of the Irving & Pitt Co.; R. S. Davis, H. Lee Mason, Chas. H. Shinkle, H. Lee Mason, Jr., Rev. A. C. Dieffenbach, Harry F. Davis, F. Kabus of A. W. Faber, H. P. Pears, and Frank B. Towne of the National Blank Book Company.

The other guests were assembled at tables of eight each. The out-of-town guests were: Ben Flowerdew of Favor-Ruhl Company, Lee Henle of Suesfield Lorech Company, William Smellie of George B. Hurd & Company, A. C. Rappier of H. Bainbridge, F. H. Burnham of Bates Manufacturing Company, H. Conlon of Yawman & Erbe Company, H. D. Young of Carter's Ink Company, Emil Hegersberg of Eagle Pencil Company, W. B. Snyder of White-Wycoff Company, R. C. Martin of Boorum & Pease Company.

Among the members present were: A. B. Holmes, Charles Williams, C. F. Swartz, C. H. Langbein, George Kurtz, Robert Gibson, Frank O. Grounds, C. Korch, Joseph F. Blinn, B. W. Heag, Elmer McKonn, John A. Brown, Harry D. Burke, Fred Weber, I. A. Cooper, Harry D. Hoffman, Charles E. Koerbel, Louis B. Leeds, W. I. Carroll, Roy L. Meyers, W. I. McCann, W. T. Winters, P. A. McNally, Robert Crawford, E. L. Stevenson, R. B. Smith, George Albright, Peter Reitzell, Ernest Ruettger, C. Toner, W. V. Dermitt, E. J. Langinbacher and A. W. McClurg.

The invocation was delivered by Rev. A. C. Dieffenbach, and after two hours spent in devouring the splendid menu prepared by the Union Club Mr. Alexander opened the talk with a happy address, in which he welcomed the strangers present. He said he hoped to have a big delegation from Pittsburgh at the coming convention in Toledo. He spoke feelingly of the death of George F. Denniston and Isaac Jones, both of J. R. Weldin & Company. He then introduced Mr. Olney, who was received with great enthusiasm, and who gave a good talk on the topic "Organization." "Uncle George" was followed by Mr. Dieffenbach. His subject was "The Larger Interest of the Business Man." He made a splendid impression. Mr. Towne followed with a good address, in which he pleaded for the National Association, and asked the support of Pittsburgh. Mr. Kabus followed Mr. Towne. Mr. Kabus made a good talk, and left to catch the eleven o'clock train for the Boston banquet, Wednesday evening. R. S. Davis, A. C. Rappier and Mr. Bragdon made short addresses. The final speech of the evening was made by Lee S.

Smith. His subject was "Commercialism," and he made a strong plea for organization. He said the government was going too far in anti-trust legislation, and that in some States a man was not allowed to talk over his business affairs with his wife without danger of arrest. When Mr. Smith finished George Olney led off with "Auld Lang Syne," and all joined in the chorus.

One of the features of the banquet was the souvenir presented by W. J. Watt & Company. Every guest found at his plate a copy of "Princess Zara," a new novel by Louis Beekman. It was beautifully illustrated in color, and the gift was highly prized by all present. A resolution thanking Mr. Watt for his kindness was passed by a unanimous vote. The menus were gotten up by J. R. Weldin & Company, and were much admired.

OBITUARY NOTES.

HENRY KERR VAN SICLEN, well known as the "bibliopole," died Monday, January 25, at his home at 413 West 22d Street. Mr. Van Siclen was born in Cold Spring, N. Y., in 1842, and was a descendant of the original settlers of Gravesend, L. I., in 1643. His mother was a daughter of Dr. David West, whose name is associated with much of the history of Hudson, N. Y. Mr. Van Siclen started in the book business at No. 133 Nassau Street in 1871, and in 1886 moved uptown to No. 95 Fifth Avenue. Such a move at that time was considered little less than business suicide. But he prospered there and his business of collecting and selling rare books and relics continued up to 1889, when he fell from a street car and was badly injured. From that time he was an invalid and was compelled to conduct his business from his home in West 22d Street. He was a member of Lafayette Post, G. A. R., and a Mason. He leaves a widow and two children. Mr. Van Siclen took great pride in his title of "bibliopole," and always resented the suggestions of friends that he meant "bibliophile," and even kept a dictionary at hand to convince them that "bibliopole" meant "a dealer in rare books." Mr. Van Siclen leaves a valuable collection of rare books, although he sold most of his important old prints several years ago.

SELAH MERRILL, D.D., the well-known authority on Palestine archaeology, died at East Oakland, Cal., on Friday, January 22, aged 72 years. Dr. Merrill was born in Canton Center, Hartford, County, Conn., May 2, 1837. He entered Yale University in 1863, then studied at the New Haven Theological Seminary and was ordained a Congregational minister in 1864. He later studied Oriental languages in the University of Berlin, and in 1874 was appointed archaeologist of the American Palestine Exploration Society. The research which more than all others brought to Dr. Merrill international attention as an authority on the Holy Land was his discovery, while he was American Consul, of the ruins of the second wall of Jerusalem, outside of which Christ, according to the biblical story, was crucified. He made the largest collection of Palestinian animals in existence. He established the biblical and oriental museum at Andover Theological Seminary, and also contributed many rare specimens to the biblical museum at Harvard University. He also gathered together the finest collection of the ancient coins of Palestine and Syria ever brought into the United States. He was the author of many books upon the Holy Land, and contributed hundreds of articles to American and English reviews and magazines.

WILLIAM SAMUEL COFFEY, D.D., for fifty-seven years rector of St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Church, East Chester, N. Y., died suddenly on Friday, January 22, at the age of eighty-two. St. Paul's is a historic edifice. The first church was built in 1698 and the present structure was erected in 1764. During the Revolution it was used both as hospital and Judge Advocate's Court. Dr. Coffey has collected and perpetuated in several volumes the history of the surrounding region in which for fifty years he has been a moving influence.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

SIR GILBERT PARKER has been elected president of the Walter Scott Society of Edinburgh, succeeding the Hon. George Wyndham.

AMONG the passengers rescued from the terrible wreck of "The Republic" last week were Mrs. Alice Morse Earle, Brayton Ives, James B. Connolly, writer of tales of the sea; James Cockroft, compiler of an encyclopedia on law, and John Merle Coulter, professor of botany at the University of Chicago.

LOTHROP, LEE & SHEPARD Co. report that they have received news direct from J. T. Trowbridge, who sailed for Southern Italy in December, that he is safe and well, looking forward to the publication of his latest book, "A Pair of Madcaps," due in April. Mr. Trowbridge is over eighty-one years old.

ALBERT BUSHNELL HART, of Harvard University, the distinguished historian, has been made president of the American Historical Association by unanimous consent. Professor Hart, already long distinguished for his historic investigation and writings, won additional prestige as editor of the "American Nation," that definitive history by special writers, the twenty-seventh and last volume of which the Harpers completed last year.

DR. ELLSWORTH HUNTINGTON, author of "The Pulse of Asia," will leave New Haven February 10 for an extended scientific trip in Palestine and Asia Minor as the representative of Yale University. He will first make a study of the fluctuations of the Red Sea, with a view toward securing further data regarding the climatic changes of the region. He will then go to the Syrian Desert, and will spend the summer studying the geography and ruins of the lake region of Western Asia, returning to the United States in October.

PERSONAL NOTES.

CURTIS W. COE, who has been travelling for A. C. McClurg & Company, entered the employ of the Dodge Publishing Company January 1. He will travel in Canada and the middle West.

J. J. F. SMITH, for a number of years travelling representative for Lee & Shepard, and their successors, Lothrop, Lee & Shepard, will, on February 1, succeed Henry W. Sully as travelling representative for L. C. Page & Company. Mr. Smith's territory, as was Mr. Sully's, will be the South and a portion of the Middle West, New England and Canada.

POST-CARD NOTES.

E. C. KROPP COMPANY, Milwaukee, Wis., have prepared a fine "exclusive" line of Lincoln's and Washington's birthday cards.

JULIUS BIEN & Co., New York City, have prepared a number of new and original designs of post-cards for Lincoln's and Washington's birthday, St. Patrick's Day and Decoration Day.

DEALERS everywhere report an exceptionally good holiday trade in the better class of post-cards. The cheaper sort, and the stupid so-called "comics" met with a frost. All of which ought to be a sufficient word to the wise.

THE AMERICAN NEWS COMPANY has prepared twelve designs of "100th Anniversary Abraham Lincoln's Birthday Post-Cards." The designs show the White House during Lincoln's term of office, a log cabin, a good portrait of Lincoln, Lincoln's entry into Richmond, etc.

THE ULLMAN MANUFACTURING COMPANY have a new series of thirty-four designs of photogravure post-cards, printed in sepia tone. Among the lot is a portrait of Washington and one of Lincoln. For the booklover is one entitled "A Little Bookworm." If that doesn't take, nothing will.

LAESSIG & COMPANY, (Charles Wolf, manager,) 441 Broadway, New York City, are the American representatives and agents for the post-cards and other novelties of Dr. Trenkler & Co. of Leipzig; Otto Schloss of Berlin; Ignaz Fuchs of Prague, and Leipziger Buchbinderei-Act.-Gesellschaft, of Leipzig.

THE DENNISON MANUFACTURING COMPANY has prepared, for the patriotic holidays, a line of red, white and blue crepe paper garlands, flags and streamers. The streamers are red, white and blue crepe, cut four inches wide and ten feet long. The flags are inexpensive and are very effective for table and other interior decorations. These are also made in two sizes in American, English, French and German flags. Among other good Dennison novelties are the flag seals used to decorate invitations, dinner cards, etc. There should be a demand for these goods in February, especially for the Lincoln centennial, and dealers should act accordingly.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

J. S. OGILVIE PUBLISHING COMPANY announce that "Gypsy Smith's Best Sermons as Delivered in Brooklyn" have been withdrawn from publication, and that no further orders will be filled.

JOHN MURRAY promises a book eagerly awaited by the world in "Six Oxford Thinkers," by Algernon Cecil, who offers studies of Gibbon, Newman, Froude, Church, Pater and Lord Morley.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN COMPANY have transformed their charming "Cupid's Almanac," the latest "laughter book" of Oliver Herford and J. C. Clay, for valentine purposes. The little book has been given an attractive new paper cover, surmounted with a purple lace heart, below which, embossed in gold, glitters "To My Valentine." The exquisite finish that goes with the imprint of this house makes this a tempting little messenger for Cupid.

EATON & MAINS have nearly ready "Sacerdotalism in the Nineteenth Century," a critical history by Prof. Henry C. Sheldon, a book undoubtedly destined to foremost rank in Protestant apologetics. The book brings out with telling force the startling developments in the direction of sacerdotalism by the Roman Catholic and Anglo-Catholic Churches in the century just closed, generally supposed to have been specially characterized by the progress of free thought.

DODD, MEAD & Co. publish this week a new work of fiction by Owen Johnson, author of "The Arrows of the Almighty," etc., entitled "The Eternal Boy, being The Story of the Prodigious Hickey," a clever life-like book about American boys at boarding school, which is considered by competent critics to be the American "Stalky & Co." The story is fully illustrated by Mary Wilson Preston. They have also just ready "The Pulse of Life," an international story by Mrs. Belloc-Lowndes. A woman of royal blood who has to leave her throne to marry and the headstrong rebellious love of a Russian prince for the girl of his choice, are the main elements, in a story of sustained dignity and depth.

MOFFAT, YARD & Co. have almost ready "Lincoln's Birthday," an anthology of good Lincoln literature remarkably well compiled by Robert H. Schauffler, who gives an illuminating introduction while the publisher adds an original portrait. Other works on the eve of publication include "The Black Cross," a novel by Olive M. Briggs, dealing with a Russian violinist who becomes involved by a girl of great beauty in a plot against the government and finds himself unexpectedly associated with a princess of degree; "The Apprenticeship of Washington," a wandering in the by-paths of Colonial history by Dean Hodges; and "Araminta," an almost Thackerayan novel by J. C. Snaith, said to be worthy to put alongside his masterpiece, "Broke of Covenand."

THE Board of Managers of The Booksellers' League have planned a "Lincoln Night" for their February dinner, which will be held on the 17th of next month. The guests, among the souvenirs, will find a Lincoln medal, a reproduction of Roine's famous work. Among the other business arranged at their meeting on Tuesday, January 27, was the plan to broaden the present scope of the Employment Bureau of the League, under the direction of Charles E. Bonnell, 48 West 22d Street, New York City, and make it available for the securing of skilled help as well as of employees for minor positions. The bureau has often been asked for more skilled help, but thus far men of that calibre have not been registered. Men fitted for any position in the booktrade are now asked to file their names at the bureau.

THE OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS have faith in still another edition of the writings of Charles and Mary Lamb. Thomas Hutchinson, acknowledged authority on all that touches this immortal brother and sister, is the editor. This will be known as the Oxford edition. The house is about to publish a volume entitled "The Moral System of Dante's Inferno," by W. H. V. Reade, who thinks that there is still an opening for students to modify, if not to revolutionize, some of the common opinions concerning the "Divine Comedy." If Dante did mean to represent the working of Divine Justice in the spiritual world, the author contends, our actual delight in his poem must partly depend upon an understanding of his moral philosophy. Even the most technical and scholastic discussions may thus lead to a finer sort of appreciation.

FREDERICK A. STOKES COMPANY have ready this week an interesting volume, entitled "Good Health and How We Won It," by Upton Sinclair, who cured himself of chronic nervous dyspepsia, and Michael Williams, who cured himself of consumption, and who tell in this book how they did it. The book tells the story of Horace Fletcher and of the discoveries of Chittenden, Pawlow, Metchnikoff and others in plain, every-day language, and gives practical suggestions for every-day living in good health—exercises, menus, recipes, etc., illustrated with sixteen full-page half-tones. They have also just ready a manual of "Auction Bridge," by R. F. Foster, containing rules as adopted by the leading clubs; also, a new edition of "Foster's Complete Hoyle," revised and enlarged, by R. F. Foster—the Encyclopedia Britannica of Games—which includes all new games and variations of the old ones down to 1909.

B. W. DODGE & COMPANY announce "Are the Dead Alive," by Fremont Rider, founded on a series of articles now running in The Delineator, which give a full but popular review of the recent progress in psychical research that has spread so marvellously through the world. Answers to the question asked by the title will appear from Sir Oliver Lodge, Professor William James, Dr. Lombroso, Tolstoi, Professor Charles Richet, Dr. Maxwell and many other investigators in the supernatural and spiritual. Photographs illustrating every phase of psychic phenomena are reproduced, and are a valuable contribution to the interesting and most timely book.

The house has also just published "The Journal of a Neglected Wife," by Mabel Herbert Urner; "Improper Prue," by Gloria Manning, the story of a bewitching heroine; and "The Roosevelt That I Know" and "Some Great American Fighting Men," by Mike Donovan.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will publish early in February "The Great Lakes," by James Oliver Curwood, profusely illustrated; "The Century of the Child," by Ellen Key, which has already gone through more than twenty German editions; and "A Resemblance, and Other Stories," by Clare Benedict; and a little later will be ready "The Government of American Cities," by Horace E. Deming, an illuminating exposition of the fundamental principles upon which the city government in the United States must be based in order to be honest and efficient. The fifth volume of Ferrero's "Greatness and Decline of Rome," completing the work, is now on the press. The first and second volumes have been exhausted and new impressions will be ready in March. There will be a Silver edition of "The Lincoln Centennial Medal," in which Roine's famous medal will appear in silver. On February 12 the dies of the medal are to be cancelled and then deposited in the collection of the American Numismatic Society. After that date no more copies of the medal or of the book containing the medal can be supplied.

JOHN LANE COMPANY have just ready "Aerial Warfare," by R. P. Hearne, with an introduction by Sir Hiram S. Maxim, a systematic, popular account of the progress made by the various countries of the world in the conquest of the air, an account planned to convince readers that aerial navigation will be to this century what electricity was to the last, illustrated with 57 views of airships in flight and the special discoveries of special inventors. The monograph on "Abraham Lincoln," by Colonel Ingersoll, recently issued by arrangement with this house, will be printed in form to be read by the blind. "Champlain," a drama in three acts, by J. M. Harper, sets forth the antagonism between the self interests of the trader and the unselfish purpose of the colonizer, a timely book in view of the tercentenary celebrations at Quebec and elsewhere, which gives an exhaustive biographical note on the great explorer Champlain. Henry Brooke's "Fool of Quality," with preface by Francis Coutts, forms two volumes in the attractive New Pocket Library, and a biographical note gives information about the author of this once popular book, who was a favorite with Leigh Hunt and his friends in their day and generation.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY publish this week a little volume of poems by Charles Wharton Stork, entitled "Day Dreams of Greece." Mr. Stork is a graduate of Haverford College, and Harvard University, and an instructor in the English department of the University of Pennsylvania. He had for years studied, translated and admired Greek poets, but a visit to that land impressed him so deeply that he was inspired to write these poems, using actual Greece as a background. Other poets treating of Greek myth all preferred the unconventional, but Mr. Stork has departed from these and has endeavored to place the old stories in their original setting. They have also just brought out volume 6 of John Bassett Moore's exhaustive edition of "The Works of James Buchanan." The latest volume covers the years 1844 to 1846. The house has also just ready the fourth revised and augmented edition of Dr. Lassar-Cohn's "Chemistry in Daily Life," translated by M. M. Pattison Muir, of Cambridge, from the sixth German edition. The house also announces that all the manuscript of John Reed Scott's new novel, "The Woman in Question," has been received, and the delighted readers of "The Colonel of the Red Huzzars," "The Princess Dehra" and "Beatrice of Clare" may look for this wholly modern story in the early spring. As usual Clarence F. Underwood has drawn the illustrations, which will be reproduced in full color.

A. C. McCLURG & Co. will publish during the early spring a list of books of infinite variety and permanent interest. "The Delafield Affair," by Florence Finch Kelly, is a stirring tale of New Mexico, full of adventure and romance; and a new collection of old tales of California, by Mrs. A. S. C. Forbes, will be entitled "Mission Tales in the Days of the Dons." George H. Brennan's "Bill Truetell," illustrated by James Montgomery Flagg, will give a story of stage life, especially among the travelling shows and minor members of the most interesting of professions. Two inspiring books for young men are "True Manhood," by Cardinal Gibbons, and "Making the Most of Ourselves," a second series of talks by Calvin Dill Wilson. A unique autograph book by Herschel Williams will be entitled "My Chums in Caricature." Fifty varieties of friends are to be characterized by quotations from many sources. Blank pages are provided in which the friends are required to burlesque the quotations by clippings from comic newspapers or original remarks or drawings, each to be signed in autograph. Other books in preparation include "The World United," a history and forecast of the Panama Canal by John George Leigh, a London engineer and specialist on the canal; "Letters from China," by Sarah Pike Conger, wife of the late Minister to China; "The Empire of the East," an illustrated description of Japan, by H. B. Montgomery; "A Summer in Touraine," an illustrated study of the old chateaux of the Loire, by Frederick Lees; "A Summer Garden of Pleasure," by Mrs. Stephen Batson, with colored illustrations by Osmond Pittman; "The Point of View" and "A Talk on Relaxation," two short studies by Alice K. Fallows, daughter of Bishop Fallows of the Emmanuel movement in Chicago; "The Art of Speech and Deportment" and "Selected Readings," by Anna Morgan; "The Railway Mail Service," by Clark E. Carr; "Jane Hamilton's Recipes," old-time Virginia cookery, by Charlotte M. Poindexter; and "What is a Picture?" a helpful little volume for aspiring art students.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BOSTON, MASS.—The Acme News Company has been incorporated to maintain a library and to do a general printing and publishing business. A. Bedford is president and C. H. Lane is treasurer and clerk.

BROKEN BOW, NEB.—Herbert A. Watts, bookseller, has sold out to C. H. & A. W. Holcomb.

NEW YORK CITY.—Dodd, Mead & Co. have purchased the northeast corner of Fourth Avenue and Thirtieth Street and will have a building ready for occupancy in about a year. The indications are that the territory from Twenty-third to Forty-second Streets, between Fourth and Sixth Avenues, will become the publishing center of the future. Indeed, with but a few important exceptions the trade has already centered in that section.

TOLEDO, O.—A fire completely destroyed the building occupied by Brown, Eager & Hull on Tuesday, January 19, causing a total loss of $135,000, covered by insurance amounting to $100,000. The firm announce they will rebuild immediately on the present site, and in the meantime will occupy temporary quarters, keeping their travellers on the road and arranging for the filling of all orders.

AUCTION SALES.

FEBRUARY 2, 3, 10 A.M. and 2 P.M.—Interesting books, including an Edgar Allan Poe collection, Bibliophile Society publications, Confederate memoirs and Rebellion histories, Americana, early maps, Masonic literature, etc. (1661 lots.)—Libbie.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers, under their own names, are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, or those advertising anonymously, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line. All objectionable books will be excluded so far as they come under our notice.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No reduction for repeated matter.

All other small undisplayed advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no account must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their Communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

¹²⁰ In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

¹²¹ Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash.]

¹²² Write your wants plainly, and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay" book-sellers should take the usual precautions, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

READY FEBRUARY 20

By the Author of "THE MYSTERY OF THE YELLOW ROOM"

A New and Remarkable Detective Story

THE PERFUME OF THE LADY IN BLACK

By GASTON LEROUX

With ten illustrations and two plans. 12mo, cloth, $1.50

"The Perfume of the Lady in Black," by the author of "The Mystery of the Yellow Room," is an even better tale than its predecessor. The characters of "The Yellow Room" reappear in the pages of "The Lady in Black" and the hero is again Joseph Rouletabille, the young reporter whose powers of reasoning bring to light the most remarkable mystery known to the annals of modern fiction.

"The Perfume of the Lady in Black" begins where most romances end—with a wedding. The couple start on their wedding tour with the brightest anticipations for the future, but long before they reach the end of their journey their happiness is merged in a dark cloud of horror which is not lifted until the last pages of the book are reached, and then in a manner which startles the readers as much as it does the members of the little company assembled in the Square Tower to witness Rouletabille's "corporeal demonstration of the possibility of the body too many."

M. Leroux knows better than any author now living—even better than the inventor of "Sherlock Holmes"—how to create a thrill and to awaken the eager and excited interest of his readers. Anyone who picks up "The Perfume of the Lady in Black" will not willingly lay it down until the story is finished, and the mystery which has held him in its grasp and which he cannot possibly solve until the author wills for him to do so—is a secret no longer.

masterly novel of modern society that will surely enhance Mr. Benson's already fine reputation

LUCIA GRIMSON

The Climber

BY E. F. BENSON

Author of "Sheaves," "The Blotting Book," etc.

The story of ambitious Lucia Grimson, who gains the goal of her dreams—social leadership—at the expense of all that is best in life, to realize the futility of it all when the law of recompense demands a remorseless accounting. This is Mr. Benson's best novel; it reaches a splendid and enduring level in contemporary fiction. With frontispiece, reproduced above. Fixed price, $1.40.

COMRADES

By the author of

"The Leopard's Spots," "The Clansman," "The Traitor," etc.

Four illustrations
in color
by C. D. Williams
$1.50

A dramatic and absorbing novel of a young millionaire and a girl enthusiast who join a socialist colony in California, by this well-known author, whose books have reached a circulation of nearly three-quarters-of-a-million copies.

Joel Chandler Harris

THE BISHOP and THE BOOGERMAN

By the author of the incomparable UNCLE REMUS books

Sixteen
illustrations
Fixed price, $1.00

One of the last stories from the pen of "Uncle Remus," of joyful memory to "young folks of all ages" over the whole world. It has the whimsicality, the homely humor and lasting charm of all the "Uncle Remus" books.

New Lincoln Books

THE DEATH of LINCOLN

By Clara E. Laughlin

Fully illustrated
Fixed price, $1.50

A real contribution to American history, has been made in this, the first extended account of the assassination. From a wealth of new material Miss Laughlin has been able to make a connected story from the inception of the idea in the mind of Booth down to the dramatic trial of the conspirators.

LINCOLN'S LOVE STORY

By Eleanor Atkinson

Author of "The Boyhood of Lincoln"

Many illustrations
Fixed price, 50 cents

With a rare and affectionate touch, Mrs. Atkinson has set down the story of the love of Abraham Lincoln and Ann Rutledge, than which no romance more beautiful and inspiring may be found in biography.

First Great Novel of 1909

THE MISSIONER

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

❖ A beautiful woman of charm, born to feudal wealth and of the aristocracy of England, frivolous minded, and with a mysterious past—this is the woman of Mr. Oppenheim's new novel.

❖ A young man of physical attractiveness and personal magnetism, a lover of humanity and determined to follow an ideal, but unused to society's ways—that is the man.

❖ Fashionable country life of England—the concert halls of London—Smart dinners at the Savoy—Salvation work in the East End—Late suppers in Paris at Maxim's—Visits to the Rat Mort—Back to London for the season—these are the places where the scenes are laid.

Cloth. Illustrated. With Picture Cover by A. B. Wenzell. $1.50

"There is good reason to believe that Mr. Trevena is one of the few men of real promise among the new recruits of recent fiction."—The Bookman.

ARMINEL OF THE WEST

By JOHN TREVENA

"A romance to read and read again with never ceasing delight."

—London Observer.

"A new literary star has arisen, a great realist, in the person of Mr. Trevena, with a sweep of pathos and power reminding me strongly of Thomas Hardy. 'Arminel of the West' nearly grips you as does 'Tess,' but without any of the bitter tragedy of that story."—Portland Oregonian.

We call special attention to this very fine romance, the second American printing of which is now on the press, and will be ready within ten days. The first edition is exhausted. The reviews of this book all give it great prominence. Several New England papers criticize its unusual frankness, but credit it with big qualities of character and style that more than compensate. Outside of New England the book's frankness does not seem to bother the reviewers. We believe it will find a good sized and a distinctly high class audience. It's the sort of novel to recommend to your very best class of novel readers. It will sell very substantially.

LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY

OUR AMERICAN HOLIDAYS

EDITED BY ROBERT HAVEN SCHAUFFLER

This is not merely a new volume of this growing popular series. It is a Lincoln book of a unique kind, and should be one of the marked books of the Centenary Year. It is the only anthology about Lincoln.

Mr. Schaufler has culled from the highly diversified literature on the subject a wealth of essay, poem, character study and historical estimate which as seen through the eyes of many writers of distinction; a picture which itself has an individuality and distinction which will rank it with the valuable books having Lincoln as their subject.

It will pay you, in our belief, to stock well with this book, which should be a good seller, among Lincoln books, from the start, and which will take a distinguished place among the other books of this series, all of which are already recognized as in the solidly successful class.

Paul Anthony, Christian

By HIRAM W. HAYES

Blue cloth, gold stamp. 415 pages. 12mo. Price $1.50

A brilliant novel dealing with the greatest religious question of the age.

FIFTEENTH THOUSAND

"Paul Anthony, as Mr. Hayes portrays him, is an ideal American. The book indicates that careful thought has been given to its preparation."

—St. Louis Republic.

"It is a fascinating, naive, and comfortable story. The saint is a character of singular charm and nobility, and the atmosphere of the novel is idealistic."

—The Athenaeum, London.

Out of the Depths

By GEORGE A. PARKER

Illustrated.

12mo. 270 pages. Cloth. $1.25

As is often the case, a little child leads to the light. Little "quarter-to-eight" year old Harvey makes a visit to his Grandpa Edwards, having traveled alone a long distance on the railroad with a tag on his coat. His sweet, childlike ways, and his loving, confident trust in the good, endear him to the hearts of all.

One of the industries of the farm is the raising of guinea pigs for the uses of vivisection, and one day a dying prize pig was found by Mr. Edwards. Harvey, unknown to any one, resuscitated it and put it back in the pen.

A sailing and fishing trip on Barnegat Bay, hospital life in Philadelphia, an intrigue, and a lost inheritance, are among the incidents of the story.

The Realm of Light

By FRANK HATFIELD

Maroon cloth, gold stamp. 12mo. Pp. 430. $1.50

"It bears strong testimony to the author's breadth of fancy and purity of mind, being in strong contrast to a number of the recent novels, in which the appeal is made to the lower elements in the reader's make-up rather than the higher."

—Los Angeles Express.

"It is a story of vivid and remarkable imaginative power, told in captivating style, and one which we are sure deserves the widest possible popularity. It is certainly a strong, entrancing story, brilliantly told throughout."

—Salt Lake City Tribune.

"It is highly creditable to its author and ought to be of permanent value. The strange land sought by the explorers is found, and turns out to be an island named Zoecia. The people, who are highly civilized, appear to live in an Utopian land. The journey tells of romantic experiences something like those related in Bulwer-Lytton's 'The Coming Race' and Rider Haggard's 'King Solomon's Mines.'"

—The Portland Oregonian.

The Teaching of the Master

A Compilation of the Words of Our Saviour

CLASSIFIED UNDER SIXTY-SIX TOPICS

Black linen cloth, limp, round corners, gilt edges, convenient for pocket, 75 cents. Postpaid.

The verses pertaining to each topic are collated and arranged so as to make a continuous, unbroken discourse.

Correlative passages from other parts of the Scriptures are appended, which for their beauty and spirituality are worthy of association with the words of the Great Teacher.

Satisfied at Last

By Rev. MARTIN SINDELL

Illustrated.

12mo. 382 pages. Cloth, $1.50

There is no struggle so intense as the mental one of a highly gifted and very spiritually minded man such as Mr. Sindell has characterized in the Rev. John B. Love. It means a good deal when such a one—honored by his fellow-men, and with a brilliant future before him—lays aside all his cherished plans and desires, and takes up the cause of Christian Science.

"Consistent with human conditions and situations, logical in its deductions and convincing in its truths, clean, bright, forceful!"

Old Mother Shoe and Her Jolly Twenty-Two

By Rev. MARTIN SINDELL

Size, 9x11 inches. 56 pages. 50 illustrations. Bound in boards, with colored label on cover. Price, $1.00, Postage, 12 cents.

"'Old Mother Shoe and Her Jolly Twenty-two' is 'A lively new story for the boys and girls all. Both those who are little and those who're grown tall,' and the book bears out the statement. There are seven full-page illustrations, several others that are almost full-page, and every page of verse is most happily illustrated. Mr. Sindell has given us the true spirit of fun and love. The wonderful twenty-two fall into all sorts of mischief during the absence of the little woman, who, puzzled how to provide Christmas gifts for so many, decided that all mischief-makers must go without them. The pranks narrated by the children on her return are not more amusing than her words are wise."

WALTER M. CHANDLER

"Noteworthy for its firm, courageous and dispassionate but delicate and reverential handling of the subject."—Review of Reviews.

THE TRIAL OF JESUS FROM A Lawyer's Standpoint

A remarkable work by Walter M. Chandler of the New York Bar. Two handsome volumes, elegantly bound in $\frac{3}{4}$ red morocco, gilt tops, with approximately 400 pages each, printed in large readable type on excellent paper, and illustrated with 18 beautiful reprints from the old masters. The books are annotated throughout, are well indexed, have appropriate appendices, and are furnished with a comprehensive Bibliography.

THE OUTLOOK: "The learning is ample and well digested; the style is lucid, the temper judicial, the whole work that of a judge, not an advocate, strong by reason of its self-restraint."

THE LITERARY DIGEST: "It would seem probable that nothing more exhaustive upon this topic will ever be produced, since it evidently covers all the material available. The amount of erudition disclosed in this treatment is surprising, and the capacity to reduce it all to an argument so clear that the ordinary reader can grasp it readily, should give the book a very wide general reading."

JUSTICE DAVID J. BREWER: "I am much pleased with your discussion of that great event.

While the only authentic reports of the trial are meagre, yet your conclusions from those reports are quite satisfactory. Certainly you have presented this matter in a most interesting and thoughtful way."
(Extract from letter to the author.)

REV. DR. NEWELL DWIGHT HILLIS: "The argument marches from the first page to the last. Here are all the facts concerning the Roman law and government, the Greek civilization, the Hebrew people, with their customs and institutions; and here too the mother-idea that organizes these facts, unifies them, and spreads the argument out before the mind like a rich landscape. The book is a veritable treasure house of wisdom and knowledge."

A HISTORY OF MISSOURI

From the Earliest Explorations and Settlements Until the Organization of the State Government.

THREE VOLUMES

By LOUIS HOUCK

Printed by R. R. Donnelley & Sons Company, The Lakeside Press, Chicago

Dr. J. M. GREENWOOD, Superintendent of the Schools in Kansas City, says:

"This monumental work will be the standard history of Missouri for the period it covers. The author has included the material for all the early histories that will hereafter be written of this section of the Mississippi Valley. Mr. Houck has done a work of which every Missourian should be proud."

Judge WALTER B. DOUGLAS, Ex-President of the Missouri Historical Society, says:

"Mr. Houck has well earned the gratitude of all Missourians. The three substantial volumes of this history constitute a storehouse of information and entertainment. Although it comes to an end with the admission of the State into the Federal Union, it covers the period of the beginnings of our history so thoroughly that the story of that time will never have to be rewritten. And it sets the standard so high that we may confidently hope that future writers who continue the work down to our own times may be encouraged to maintain an equal level. We may congratulate ourselves that this portion of our history had remained, until now, unwritten. For only a virgin and unexplored subject would have been sufficiently inviting to induce even so good a Missourian as Mr. Houck to make the sacrifice required for its accomplishment."

Sold only by NAETER BROS., Cape Girardeau, Mo., to whom all orders should be addressed.

We desire to announce to the trade that the book

Gipsy Smith's Best Sermons As Delivered in Brooklyn

has been withdrawn from publication, and that no further orders from the trade for this book will be filled.

The South: shall it ever become so far civilized as to be fit for a Republican form of government? or shall we for another seventy-five years be subject to its vicious legislation, its turbulence and its wars? Answer: the Dingley tariff, causing the development of the vast mineral and other resources of the southern states, through work and wages, nearer and greater markets, wealth and power, is solving this supreme national problem; addressed in criticism of his economic views and recommendations to President Roosevelt. To be Issued February 27th

“THE TRAVELLERS’ NUMBER” OF THE PUBLISHERS’ WEEKLY

THE new special number of THE PUBLISHERS’ WEEKLY, known as “The Travellers’ Number,” inaugurated last year, will be issued this year under date of February 27th. Its principal object is the exploitation of Competitive Lines in the mutual interest of publisher and buyer. This field has not heretofore been regularly covered in trade journalism, and our purpose is to make this issue one of commanding importance to the trade. Several reference features make it of unusual value for reference throughout the year. It will reach every possible buyer of competitive lines throughout the country.

Sufficient advertising support having already been pledged, there will be no increase in schedule rates. Publishers of such lines as Competitive Reprints, Copyright Rebinds, Popular Classics, Standard Sets and Series, Rag and Toy Books, Christmas Cards and Calendars, Bibles and Prayer Books, Dictionaries, Technical Hand-Books, etc., will find

Further in “The Travellers’ Number” an attractive Particulars opportunity for profitable advertising at the on Request opening of the season of early buying.

Annual Library Index

Announcement of the 1908 Volume

IT has been decided to continue the ANNUAL LIBRARY INDEX, to include in the 1908 volume most of the important periodicals covered by the five-yearly Poole's Index, adding about forty to the list indexed for 1907, and to publish this as early in 1909 as the editorial work and printing can be completed. This will include a large number of periodicals not indexed in any other publication, and should be of value not only in libraries which take most of the periodicals indexed, but also to smaller libraries which take only a few of the periodicals but are enabled by this Index to point readers to other sources of information on specified subjects.

The edition will be limited, and it is desirable to know in advance the probable number of subscribers. In view of the cost of such bibliographical enterprises and the large increase in the ground covered this year, the price will be $5.00 for the complete bound volume. It should be noted that this is a much lower price actually as well as relatively than that for other Indexes.

The volume will include, in addition to the practical index, the usual features of the index to general literature (i. e., of composite books issued in 1908), the list of bibliographies; the necrology of authors; the index to current events, which has been one of the most practical and valuable features of the Annual Library Index for some years past, providing as it does, an index to any daily newspaper; and a new up-to-date Directory of Public Libraries.

 The Directory of Libraries is a feature of special value to the Book Trade.

Concerning "The American Catalog"

THE remaining copies of the latest volumes of "The American Catalog," issued last summer, covering three years, 1905-1907—one part of full-title entries with annotations as they appeared in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY during the period, the other a short-title record under author, title, subject and series, with many entries of obscure books not first listed in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY—are about to be advanced in price from $13.50 to $16.00 per set.

Several booksellers in possession of the earlier volumes of "The American Catalog" have not yet sent in their orders for the latest to complete their sets. All dealers know the value of "The American Catalog," which in these latest additions brings three years of current publications into one alphabet in a manner not yet done for this period by any other compilation, and that will not be done by any forthcoming work within the same price. The two parts are sold separately, and a bookseller not willing to buy both may have the fuller index volume for a short time at $7.50. This volume will then be advanced to $10.00.

A few copies are also still on hand of the previous five-yearly volumes, covering the period from 1900-1904. These now sell at $7.50 per volume, or $15.00 for both.

Bibliographical Helps

ISSUED FROM

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY OFFICE

The Publishers' Weekly

Recognized as the representative of the publishing and bookselling interests in the United States. Contains full weekly record of American publications, with monthly indexes, cumulated quarterly, news of interest concerning the book trade, lists of "Books Wanted," (an advertising feature which each subscriber can use without charge to the extent of 100 lines per year,) etc., etc. Subscription, $4.00 a year; to foreign countries, $5.00 a year.

The Annual American Catalog, 1908

In two parts: A short-title index to all the book publications of the year and a full-title index, with brief annotation of the leading books of 1908. (Ready March, 1909.) 8vo, cloth, $3.00.

The American Catalog, 1905-1907

Vol. I containing in one alphabet an index to all books published during 1905-06-07; under author, title, subject and series entries. 8vo, half morocco, $7.50.

Vol. II containing the full-title Weekly Record material of The Publishers' Weekly for the same years, in a separate alphabet for each year. 8vo, half morocco, $6.00.

The American Catalog, 1900-1905

Vol. I contains a five-year cumulation, Jan. 1, 1900-Jan. 1, 1905, giving in one alphabet, by author, title and subject, information of the books issued during the years covered by this period. It also contains a directory of over 3800 publishers, with street addresses. 8vo, half morocco, $7.50.

Vol. II or Supplementary volume gives the full-title entries with annotations printed in the Weekly Record of The Publishers' Weekly, cumulated into an alphabet for each year, i.e., into five alphabets 1900, 01, 02, 03, 04. This is planned to answer the demand of such libraries, bookdealers, and others as want the full material of The Publishers' Weekly bibliographical system in available shape. 8vo, half morocco, $7.50. The set of two, $15.

Of the previous series of THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE, quarto size, the earlier volumes are out of print. We have remaining a few copies of the volumes 1890-95 and 1895-1900, bound in half morocco, $15.00 each.

The Publishers' Trade List Annual

Contains the latest catalogues of upward of 200 American publishers, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the firm-names, with smaller lists, fully indexed, at the end of the volume, indispensable to every one who has any interest in the sale or purchase of books. Large 8vo, cloth, $2.00.

Index to the Publishers' Trade List Annual, 1902, out of print.

The Supplementary Index, 1903-1904, 500 pages, 8vo, cloth, with thumb index, $3.00. The alphabet in this volume is supplementary to the original Index of 1902.

The Library Journal

Chiefly devoted to library economy and bibliography. Established in 1876. Published monthly. Subscription $4.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 35 cents. Price to Europe or other countries in the Union, 16s. a year; single numbers, 1s. 6d.

The Annual Library Index

Including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book-Chapters, etc., Bibliographies, Necrology, Index to Dates of Principal Events, and a Directory of Libraries. Edited, with the co-operation of members of the American Library Association and of The Library Journal staff, by W. I. FLETCHER. (Published annually.) The volume covering 1908, $5.00; all prior volumes, $3.50 each.

The American Educational List

Contains a price-list of the text-books in use in the United States, arranged alphabetically by author's or editor's name, and a detailed subject-index, referring from each specific subject to authors of books on that subject. (Published annually.) 8vo, leatherette, 50 cents.

English Catalogue of Books (Annual)

Containing a complete list of all the books published in Great Britain and Ireland in the calendar year, with index to subjects. 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

Directory of Publishers

Contains names and addresses of 3789 firms and individuals who issued books in the U. S. from Jan. 1, 1905, to Dec. 31, 1907. (Reprinted from The American Catalog.) 8vo, leatherette, red edges, $1.00.

The Profession of Bookselling

A handbook of practical hints for the apprentice and bookseller. By A. GROWOLD, managing editor of The Publishers' Weekly, author of "A Bookseller's Library," "Three Centuries of English-Booktrade Bibliography," etc. Parts 1 and 2. 8vo, boards, each $2.00. (Concluding part in preparation.)

Publications of Societies

A provisional list of the publications of American scientific, literary and other societies, from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Schedules nearly 1000 societies issuing publications, and gives title-entries of all their publications, as far as data could be obtained from the societies and from libraries. 8vo, paper, $2.50.

State Publications

A provisional list of the official publications of the several States of the United States from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Part 1: New England States. Part 2: North Central States. Part 3: Western States and Territories. Part 4: Southern States. The four parts bound in one vol., half morocco, $12.00; the four parts, each in paper cover, $10.00 for the set. (Not sold separately.)
